ROTE SPOKES

A gratifying number of Rotarians were on hand Monday Noon, April 17th for the usual weekly meeting and luncheon. Again the Ladies Auxiliary contributed to the avoidance of members by serving a delicious dinner.

Special guests present were Mr. Grant, who is taking Art King's place in the Bank of Montreal, and H. A. Dunlop, Comptroller for the B. C. Sugar Refining Co. Ltd. of Vancouver. Mr. Dunlop is in Raymond in connection with the annual audit of Canadian Sugar Factories.

An enjoyable sing-song was enthusiastically led by Myron accompanied by Roi at the piano. Art King sang his swan song and left with the good wishes of all members.

The New Member

New members sometimes ask, What shall I get out of Rotary?

There is in Sweden, high on the side of a mountain, an inn, the door of which bears a notice with these words, "In this inn you will find joy and good company — provided you bring them with you". Let us ask, "What can I bring to Rotary?" rather than, "What can I get from it."

Every Rotarian

Keep before you the spiritual and moral values of life, lest material things replace the good things of life.

From Regina Breeze

Rotary's emblem is a powerfully geared wheel with teeth designed for heavy duty. The teeth are Rotary members, the rim is the club and the spokes are the club's meetings. If one tooth of the wheel is absent, if the rim is weak, or if one spoke is broken, the efficiency of the entire wheel is impaired.

A member of a Rotary Club Becomes A Rotarian

When attendance becomes a joy and not a burden.

When acquaintance has flowered into friendship.

When he definitely accepts responsibility.

When he awakens to the fact that he is "ambassador Plenipotentiary" from his vocation or business or profession to his club, his community, and society.

When he recognizes his community as his plot of ground given him to till.

When he breaks through the growing mind to maturity and God-like perspective encompassing men of all colors, creeds and races knowing with deep conviction that the good-will among men and nations is the root and not the fruit of International peace.

Observations Worth Thinking About

We have the right to expect man to remember that there is no such thing as something for nothing.

We have the right to expect men to remember that no one ever won a war.

We have the right to expect men to remember that mere material things do not certainly assure happiness or peace or security.

This world has everything to make men happy if men themselves will behave themselves.

We can walk forward with faith—faith in ourselves to reform what we need to—faith in our children to do better than we have done—faith in God to overrule for ultimate good what we fail to do.

William Allen White said: "I am not afraid of tomorrow. I have seen yesterday and I love today."

M.L.A. Report

L. C. Halmrast, M.L.A. will be the guest speaker at the Rotary Club's weekly meeting next Monday, May 1. At this meeting he will give a report on the year's activities in the provincial legislature. Anyone interested in hearing this report may do so by being at the Legion Hall at 12:45 or by making arrangements with S. B. Card to attend the luncheon at 12 noon.

Damage to Car

A fire extinguisher carried in the car of Wallace Wilde exploded doing more than $100 damage to the upholstery and springing the hinges of the trunk. There was no one in the car at the time and the windows were open. Had the extinguisher burst half hour earlier it may have caused the death of one or more members of the family as they had been out driving and had just returned, leaving the car in the yard when the explosion occurred.

Thanks from the Red Cross

The local committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society wish to express their thanks to those who helped, both as donors and canvassers, in the recent fund-raising campaign. The Committee, under the direction of Mrs. F. Hall, collected $1318.15 for the Red Cross.

Stirling News

(Mrs. Lief Erickson)

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jacobs were business visitors in Calgary over the week-end.

Grant and Joanne Erickson have returned from Edmonton and Calgary where they have completed their years course in the Faculty of Education.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil McKee are back in the district from Vancouver where they spent the past winter. They have disposed of their home at the coast and, for the present, will remain in the community. Since their arrival Mrs. McKee has been confined to her home on account of illness.

The comedy "Damsels in Distress" presented Friday evening by the Foremost Lions Club was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed. A percentage of the proceeds was turned over to the local club's swimming pool fund.

Ken Spackman and his bride are spending their honeymoon visiting here with friends and relatives. They were recently married in Salt Lake City. Many of their friends met at the hall on Monday evening to offer congratulations and to enjoy an evening of dancing in their honor.

Mrs. Louie Hogensen entertained a group of friends on Thursday afternoon. A delicious lunch was served at the close of a very pleasant social hour.

At the Sunday evening Sacrament service Bishop Elmer Ririe, Stake Patriarch Ira Fletcher and Malcolm Bridge, all of Magrath, were special speakers. They gave very impressive talks and much timely advice to the congregation. Mrs. Beth Bridge rendered a pleasing vocal solo during the service.

Mrs. Beatrice Nilsson was recently sustained as Second Counsellor to Mrs. Eudora Oler in the Relief Society organization. She fills the vacancy made when Marjorie Selk left the district to make her home in Rosemary.

Weddings

Clark - Palmer

The Stake House was the scene of a lovely wedding on April 14 when Margaret Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Marion Palmer became the bride of George Sumner Clark, son of Mrs. Leota Clark of Kansas City, Mo. Bishop Rulon H. Dahl officiated at the ceremony.

Amid a setting of daffodils, tapers and ferns the bride entered the room on the arm of her father to the strains of the Wedding March played by Herb Bishop. She wore a gown of white satin, the bodice accented by a net yoke, a strand of pearls and lily-pointed sleeves. Her bouquet was red roses and lilies. Her hair-effect, seed-pearl studded coronet held a long length veil of French netting.

Mrs. Ardelle Prosk, a sister of the bride was matron-of-honor and wore a gown of pink and gold metallic. Mrs. Vonda S. Wilde and Miss Joyce Phillips were bridesmaids and wore gowns of mauve taffeta and pink organza respectively. The matron-of-honor carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations while the bridesmaids had bouquets of spring flowers. Two diminutive attendants were niece and nephew of the bride, Miss Dianne Pengilly of Stirling and Master Bryan Roy of Lethbridge.

The best man was Merrill Palmer and the ushers were Lloyd Prosk, Mahlon Smith and Murray Wilde.

The bride's mother wore a dress of grey and rose crepe with a pink carnation corsage.

The three tiered wedding cake on a beautiful setting was displayed.

The reception was held, immediately following the ceremony, in the Recreation Hall of the Stake House. John Allen was Master of Ceremonies and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Witbeck were reception assistants.

The bride chose a brown tailored suit with green accessories and a gardenia corsage for her travelling costume. They left for San Francisco, Salt Lake City and Kansas City, Mo. on their honeymoon.

They will reside in Edmonton.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. M. Lee (bride's grandmother) of Card. A. E. Palmer, Dr. and Mrs. Roy of Lethbridge and Mrs. Lottie Lee of Calgary.

The Milad's Club was held at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Dahl in the form of a farewell party for Effie King. Five tables of Rook were in play with high score going to Mrs. Virginia Rolison and consolation to Mrs. Rita Rasmussen.

A gift was presented to Mrs. King who graciously thanked everyone.

Guests included Mrs. Inez Hickman, Mrs. Beth Walker and Mrs. Martha Woolley.

(By Deb. Thompson)

Has anyone a billiard table not in use? We have lots of room in the basement of the Legion Hall to accommodate a good sized table. Anyone knowing where we can pick one up for free, or cheaper, kindly pass the information on to some Legion member, we are sadly lacking in recreation equipment. However, if there isn't anyone who has a table to donate, we would consider paying a reasonable price.

It is the intention of the veterans to establish a good recreation room in the basement of the new hall, we want to have a ping pong table, dart board, etc. so that members have a suitable place to spend their leisure hours.

Home and School

The meeting announced in last week's paper to be held in the Public School at 8 p.m. was altered to 7 p.m. in the High School in an attempt to avoid the time chosen for the M.L.A. play. Only a few took advantage of the changed time so the program was postponed till our next meeting on Wednesday, May 31st. We would like all parents to make a note of this date as we will be electing officers for the coming year. The Raymond Home and School Association meets at 8 p.m. on the 1st Wednesday in each school month. The aims of the Association are as follows:

1. To promote the welfare of children and youth.
2. To raise the standard of home life.
3. To secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth.
4. To enable parents and teachers to co-operation in the training of the child.
5. To understand and aid the schools and to interpret them to the public.
6. To obtain the best for each child, according to his physical, social and spiritual needs.
7. To foster high ideals of true citizenship and patriotism.

Galla Fea Fea

It took Master of Ceremonies Dick Kinsey some time to get the crowd of over 600 who witnessed the Galla Fea Fea warmed up but once that job had been done it was smooth sailing on the scenic 7,000 mile tour. This was a tour that was so realistically enacted that one could almost feel the warm (and wouldn't it be nice) breezes blowing off the beautiful Pacific Ocean. The painted backdrop enhanced the wonderment of the performance as did the colored lighting effects which were ably handled by Leo Davidson. That is all the lighting effects except the glow in Mr. Kinsey's bowtie.

The two hour program was so filled with beauty and action, including Dick's trouble with the curtain, that it is almost impossible to give you a detailed description so suffice it to say that it was wonderful. The demonstration of muscular co-ordination combined with beautiful music made an evening of entertainment that will long be remembered.

The people of Raymond are especially blessed in having two such fine musicals as the "Exodus" and the Fea Fea performed here. Many people are paying large admission fees to see stage shows and performances of less caliber.

There was no reason to fear those horrible apparitions that walked the streets by daylight this week, for, under those ghastly exteriors was the flower of beautiful youth.

Sadie Hawkins Day has been celebrated! Thank goodness!

Drive-In Theatre

We attended the special pre-view opening of the Green Acres Drive-In Theatre on Thursday night and in spite of rather inclement weather, thoroughly enjoyed the show. Much credit is due the organization and men who are responsible for providing this form of entertainment for the people of Southern Alberta.

The theatre itself has not yet received the finishing touches that will make it a spot of beauty as well as enjoyment but things are now so that first class entertainment is available. The Snack Bar is but one feature that is outstanding for it is as modern as tomorrow and is staffed by neat, courteous attendants.

In a word, the new Drive-In theatre is tops in entertainment.

400 head of feeder cattle were recently cleared through the yards here on their way to Seattle where they will be put in feed yards to be finished off for top beef for the U.S. market. The cattle were purchased from the L.D.S. Church ranch by J. L. ...

Unique Experience

A unique experience was had by Long and Darrel Litchfield who were in Edmonton recently and were visiting the Parliament Buildings.

They entered the building and were told by an attendant that they could look around. They soon met a man who asked them if they would like to see the room where the Premier held his meetings. Of course they said they would like to. The gentleman showed them where each member sat and then showed them where the Premier sat. He then asked if they would like to see the Premier himself to which they enthusiastically said they would. The man then sat in the chair and said, "Well here he is, you're looking at him."

It was an unforgettable experience for the boys.

James Frew of Lethbridge, well known stock buyer in this district, recently shipped four cars of horses to the canners. These horses were mostly old stock.

We would certainly appreciate an early report on any news worthy items you may come across from day to day. It will make our work easier and the paper more interesting if there is an item about you in it!

The Friday Night Club met at the home of Mrs. Lottie Litchfield with Edith Woolley assisting the hostess. Mrs. Bernice Gardner's review of the book "Jubilee Trail" by Gwen Birsto was greatly enjoyed by everyone present.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostesses.

M. D. No. 5

Sharpe Henry was elected Reeve of the Sugar City Municipal District No. 5 when the Council met for their first meeting in the Municipal office here recently in a near record, three day meeting.

Mr. Henry represents the DelBonita district and has served on the council for eight years. He succeeds N. W. Peterson who served as reeve for 21 years out of the 28 years he has been on the council.

Mr. Peterson was a member of the old M.D. before it was enlarged to present size. There are five divisions in the new district No. 5 which covers a 42 square mile area, bounded by the International boundary line on the south, the Lethbridge airport on the north and Warner on the east with the west boundary being the St. Mary's River.

Mr. Peterson recalls many changes that have been made during the years he served on the council. There was not a gravelled road in the district when he was first elected, nothing but mud trails over which the farmers had to bring their produce to market. Today the M.D. has 14 miles of hard top road, 239 miles of gravelled road and 473 miles of elevated graded roads with many bridges over which trucks and cars travel with ease.

During the 28 years Mr. Peterson was a member of the council he only stood for election once, the other years he was returned by acclamation. He did not stand for nomination at the last election as the M.D. Act reads that a member of the council must reside in the district which he represents. The town is not in the district so when Mr. Peterson moved into Raymond he could not qualify.

The Raymond Lions Club held a friendly membership contest during January. The members were divided into "Presidents" and "Vice-Presidents". The losers were to entertain the winners—Herbe's gang lost the contest and interest too—and the winners are still squawking about their chicken supper.

Out of the whole deal there were three members who won Lions Keys for enrolling two new members each. The President introduced the members and presented Keys to Rayo Woolf, Keith McBride and L. L. Harker. These Lions will cherish their awards which are good as long as they are members in good standing of the club. At District Convention each year such members are honored at a special 'Key Members Breakfast'.

Speaking of conventions, the District Convention this year will be held at Missoula from June 14 to 17, incl. Most of the entertainment will be in the big Army hall just outside the city. The Host Club is expecting about 1,100 or 1,200 guests this summer. Local clubs are busy planning their delegations and making hotel reservations. The Raymond Club will be represented.

Among other items of business will be the election of four District Governors, one of which will be for District 37 which includes Alberta and North-western Montana—a terrific amount of territory to cover. Alberta is second only to Ontario, in Canada, for number of clubs organized.

Why Should I be a Lion?

There are many benefits. To give you some material for reflection—can you imagine any citizen following the Lions Code of Ethics without receiving great development and enjoyment?

We are submitting this Code for your consideration.

The Lions Code of Ethics

1. To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

2. To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self-respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

3. To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

4. Whenever doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself.

5. To hold friendship as an end and not as a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

6. Always bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give to them my unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

7. To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

8. To be careful with my criticisms and liberal with my praise; to build up and not to destroy.

Handkerchiefs and pistols are both kept under the pillow and you can blow your head off with either so be careful.

Giant Tractor for Iraq

A new giant tractor built by Thorneycroft Ltd., of London, England, was recently demonstrated at Bagshot, Surrey. This new tractor is designed to meet the requirements of the Iraq Petroleum Co. for use on the pipeline between Kirkuk and the Mediterranean Sea. It can carry a load of 32 tons and for a gross train weight with semi-trailer, of up to 100 tons. This picture shows the giant tractor undergoing tests on rough ground during a demonstration at Bagshot recently.

We are pleased to publish the following poem written by D. Mary Hyde entitled

Milking Time

Come cow, it's time to milk again,
Around your neck I place the chain,
Your udder washed I take my pail
And sit beside your swinging tail.
With feet astride how still you stand
As milk flows 'neath my pressing hand
Till you are dry I'll sit and think
Of God's good gifts, this food and drink.

Go now, black cow with tail of white
Out in to the starry night,
For you are free once more to stray
Till dawn shall bring another day.

should leave advertising strictly alone said the late John Wannamaker in words that can't be repeated too often. "To make a success of advertising one must be prepared to stick to it like the barnacles on the bottom of a boat. He should know before he starts that he must spend money—lots of it. Advertising does not jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year until it exerts an irresistible power."

Soil is Food

On Friday, March 3rd, 1950 clouds of dust were seen rising from many fields in the irrigated areas of Southern Alberta. That dust was soil.

Long ago a similar sight was seen in fertile lands which today are vast deserts of North Africa and Asia. Once varied and bounteous crops flourished in those areas and proud people basked in the bounteous blessings of the rich earth. Today shifting sand dunes move restlessly over the remains of once great civilizations. All because man neglected the lifeblood of the world—the soil.

The top six inches of our soil is priceless. It is this six inches, not the other five hundred odd million inches of the earth below, that is chiefly responsible for producing the food we eat. Without this thin layer of soil we could not exist.

When precious topsoil goes from our land we blame the elements wind and water. But why? Before man broke the sod or turned his stock on the prairies, Nature took care of the soil, the wind blew over countless acres of grassland made lush by the rain and snow. Man usurped Nature's guardianship of the soil, his then, is the responsibility for guarding it now.

The dust storms of the 'thirties brought on an intensive campaign against soil drifting in the 'Dry Land' areas of the prairies. Strip cropping, subsurface cultivators, trash covers, contour farming, less fallow, all combined to provide a good measure of control against loss of our farm lands.

What of our irrigated land? In recent years the intensification of our irrigated farming and the introduction of special crops have combined to increase soil drifting in irrigated districts. Many fields, on which such crops as peas, potatoes, sugar beets, beans, and carrots were grown in 1949, are now in imminent danger of erosion. Insufficient plant residue, a relatively smooth surface, and absence of snow cover makes conditions extremely hazardous.

If we cannot get all our irrigated fields erosion-proofed in the fall—and this happens all too often—it may be necessary, anytime between now and spring, to take emergency measures to hold down the soil. For some years past the Lethbridge Experimental Station has used for this purpose a one-way from which every other three or four pans have been removed. Drawn across the fields at right angles to the prevailing winds, or on the contour where the land slopes, the machine makes ridges of lumpy soil which provide immediate protection against the wind. Recent tests made with a chisel plow type of implement have shown that such a machine may be used to advantage. Any disk or chisel type implement which will roughen the surface should be pressed into service at the first sign of drifting. Soil drifting has been checked on dry land fields, it can, and must, be checked on irrigated land.

Soil is food. We can and must guard our soil, now and always.

A Salute to Western Farmers

From a Western Canadian economic standpoint, chemical weed control is a development of outstanding importance. The success that has followed the use of "selective" chemicals, and more particularly 2,4-D, for the control of weeds in growing grain crops, fully discredits the old idea that the weed menace is something beyond the farmer's control, and would eventually ruin the agricultural industry of the Prairie Provinces. It is already as plain as can be that no country in the world stands to benefit more from the general adoption and widespread use of effective chemical weed control methods than Western Canada. That is why Line Elevators Farm Service desires to pay tribute to the farmers of Western Canada for the efficient way in which they have so quickly and successfully adopted the revolutionary practice of controlling weeds with chemicals. We take off our hats to them for the vision, ambition and good common sense they have shown in putting this new weed control practice to work in the field.

Reliable estimates show that at least ten million acres of grain crops were treated with 2,4-D in the Prairie Provinces during 1949. Owing to unfavourable weather conditions, Western Canada will not be able to break any grain crop production records this year, but, on the basis of our own extensive field surveys, we are convinced that it will, in 1949, harvest one of the cleanest (weed-free) crops in its history. The exception, of course, is Wild Oats. This weed cannot, so far, be controlled by chemical treatment.

The remarkable success that has followed the adoption and use of 2,4-D, and other weed killing chemicals, by the farmers of Western Canada, brings into clear focus a fact that all professional agricultural workers would do well to keep in mind—the farmer holds the key to all agricultural development and progress.

A young Negro was walking down 42nd Street in New York, a little nervous at the vastness of the great city and weary with the weight of two valises. He suddenly felt the weight of one of them lifted and looked about apprehensively to see a tall white man striding at his side. "Pretty heavy, brother", smiled his companion. "Suppose you let me take one, I'm going your way." Together they walked along 42nd Street that suddenly seemed less vast and unfriendly to the young Negro.

"And that" said Booker T. Washington, the great Negro Educator, years afterward, "was the first time I ever saw Theodore Roosevelt."

From Quotes and Anecdotes

So we lost 40,000 men in the last war. But for every serviceman who died in the name of freedom, two Canadian citizens vanished in the name of ignorance. That's right, during the war years 85,000 babies under one year of age died in Canada. And most of them died because Canadian mothers did not know how to take care of them.—John Fisher, on CBC.

A report in the Dawlish (Devon) Gazette announces the safe arrival of Mrs. M. E. Bishop who has been visiting her daughter and her family here recently.

Does Retirement Hasten Death?

There seems to be a somewhat popular impression that when a man who has led an active and regular life retires he signs his own death warrant. Actually, reports The Financial Post, there is no real proof that he is hastening or retarding the end.

A man who suddenly leaves his job and faces a radical change in life, with no interests, is certainly risking a breakdown, if not worse.

Available statistics, however, do not confirm any sudden mortality after the normal retiring age. The death rate is pretty high at this period anyway, but the acceleration seems to be steady.
